this twine will lose trade because it will not give satisfaction and they will be out of pocket because much of it will be thrown back on their hands; that the farmers who buy it cannot make it work on their machines, and will lose much time in exchanging it.

These twines advertised as Canadian are offered for sale under many different brands. In samples their identity can be somewhat disguised but in the field they quickly develop the ear marks of convict labor.

Farmers are warned against buying prison made binding twines which although offered at low prices cost double the money in the long run.

OBITUARY.

MRS. J. GRAY.

Qu'Appelle Station has again to mourn the loss of one of its most respected residents, Mrs. John Gray, mother of J. H. Gray, Andrew, Elizabeth and Mrs. J. H. Gray, of this district. William H. of Griswold, Iowa, and Mrs. J. H. Gray, of St. Joseph's Island. The deceased lady has for some years past been in a precarious state of health, owing to her great age, 87, and on Sunday morning breathed her last in the blessed hope of a glorious resurrection, surrounded by most of her family.

The funeral on Monday was one of the largest ever witnessed in Qu' Appelle, followed by the remains to Edgley church, where impressive services were conducted by Rev. J.
Macleod, and Rev. W. C. Bunn, and the body laid to rest in the pretty cemetery at Edgley.

The deceased lady was born in Ireland, came to the county of Wallace, Ont., in the early days where her husband died in 1863.
She came to this country in 1883 and has resided here ever since, most of her family having settled here.

The pall bearers were all old Ontario friends and acquaintances.
The Progress extends its sympathy to those left behind.

Wide Awake Winks.

The crops in this vicinity are looking well, notwithstanding the long spell of dry weather.

Mr. T. Jackson is busily engaged erecting his new brick residence.

The R.T. of T. meetings are going on as usual. The programme on Friday night last was a success in every way. Many choice selections were given, and we are glad to see that the majority take such an interest in the society.

We would remind those ardent young men who are so fond of driving, to use the new patent double spring buggy, as the single springs are liable to break when least expected. It is also appalling to think that the most attractive young ladies are allowed to travel unaccompanied by any of the gay young cavaliers who frequent this district.

Mr. Joseph Price has just completed his contract of building a new and commodious stable on his homestead.

Jack rabbits are becoming so numerous throughout this country that they have begun to breed with the native ponies, and farmers are warned to dispose of them at any cost. One of our popular young men has just become the possessor of one of those half-castes, and we understand it is his intention to visit Europe during the coming fall and take up his permanent residence in the British museum. We wish our young friend every success in his new enterprise.

ALMIGHTY VOICE

The Murderer of Sergt. Colebrook, Brought to Bay, Adds Three Killed to His List.

And Wounds Three Others—The Outlaw Fights Desperately To the Last.

When the news of the shooting at Duck Lake reached Qu'Appelle on Saturday last it caused a feeling of uneasiness, especially among those who have a lively recollection of the trouble in '85. It was reported that a number of young men on the reserves north had left to lend their assistance to the outlaw.
The prompt action of the police and cavalry of Prince Albert, however, prevented them rendering assistance, if such was their design, and we hope our red brethren who may be tempted to become sturdiy have been taught a wholesome lesson, that they cannot offend the laws of the land with impunity.

The following dispatches to the Winnipeg daily will tell the story of the fight and how it ended:

West Prince Albert, May 29.— In the shooting of the outlawed Indian Almighty Voice, at Manchiness Hills, near Batoche, three men were killed and three wounded.
The Indian was first sighted by a young rancher named Venne, who with his brother Bruno, were hunting for lost cattle in the vicinity of the now famous bluff. The brother saw two Indians chasing their cattle with ponies. They rode up and remonstrated with the Indians, who said they were only chasing the cattle for fun and then retreated into the bluff and opened fire upon the Vennes, wounding Napoleon Venne in the arm. Scouts immediately brought word here, when a detachment of eleven police under Inspector Allan set out for the scene of trouble. They came to the bluff about 8:30 a.m. yesterday morning when the Indians in the bluff immediately opened fire on them, shattering Inspector Allan's arm in the first volley. The police returned the fire and a rifle-duel was maintained for some hours, during which the Indians shot and wounded Sergt. Raven, who commanded after Allan was wounded. Corporal Hockin, upon whom the command now devolved, fearing that with the few men he had he could not guard the bluff effectually during the night, decided to charge with all his force at 6 p.m., stationed two sharpshooters at the opposite side to shoot down Indians if an escape was attempted. Corp'l.
Hockin led this charge with seven men. The three Indians opened fire immediately from their ambush, killing Const. Kerr with the first volley, and Mr. A. Grundy, a volunteer from Duck Lake, with the second. Hockin and his men continued the charge. One of the Indians was sighted peeping out of their rifle-pit and was immediately riddled with four bullets. Just then brave Corp'l. Hockin was shot down and the remaining four police, left without an officer, retired to help, if possible, their fallen comrades, all of whom were not then dead. The bluff in which the Indians are hiding is now completely surrounded by police and volunteers and an additional force of twenty-five mounted volunteers are starting from here to-day at 2 p.m. to-day. No further attempt will be made to capture the Indians until a reinforcement from Regina, now on its way, arrives. They are bringing a field gun which will be brought to bear upon the rifle-pit in which the Indians are entrenched.
Meanwhile the Indians cannot possibly escape. The father of Almighty Voice was arrested this morning while trying to get to his son with a lot of ammunition and rations.

At the assizes held recently at Orangeville, Ont., James Ballard, one of the notorious gang of Melancthon firebrands and conspirators, was found guilty of setting fire to his own buildings. Sentence was deferred. The others of the gang are still on trial.

Two deputations of the Lord's Day association, which waited upon the premier at Ottawa the other day, he said he would certainly give his support to the first two classes of Mr. Charlton's bill prohibiting Sunday newspapers and regulating that to canal shall be kept open between the hours of 6 a. m. and 10 p. m. on Sunday.

Dairy Commissioner Robertson leaves for England shortly to perfect arrangements in connection with the cold storage enterprise and arrange a plan for conducting sales of Canadian products, when they are shipped by rapid transit and cold storage to Great Britain. He expected the scheme will be in perfection by the end of June.

The New York Journal publishes a dispatch from London, Eng., concerning the gift of £25,000, which was received by the lord mayor, from an anonymous contributor for use in connection with the proposed dinner which will be given the London poor at the time of the Queen's jubilee. Although the report is unconfirmed, it is stated that William Waldorf Astor is the anonymous philanthropist.

The directors of the Lachine Hydraulic and Land company, of Montreal, will have the largest electrical installation in the British empire when the works are completed next month. They have through the governor-general sent a message to the Queen asking her to touch the button which will set the whole gigantic plant running. All necessary arrangements have been made with the cable and telegraph companies and they are now waiting for Majesty's reply.

Prof. Ferris, hypnotist, the other night at Hamilton, Ont., paid Prof. Smith under the influence placed him in a coffin and buried him in a vault with a ventilating shaft leading to the grave. Smith was to remain underground for three days. At noon on the third day people surrounding the grave heard cries coming up the shaft. Smith was heard crying. "For God's sake let me out of here," he was soon crying up. Prof. Ferris explained that Smith was not sufficiently hypnotized. The young man vividly portrayed his agony when he awoke and found himself buried. The authorities intend putting a stop to such exhibitions in the future.

A Case of Mystery.

An Indian who had been hunting at Souding Lake came in the other week and brought a story that will be investigated. As told to another Indian who told it to our informant it is to the effect that he found a shack at which two white men had been wintering and trapping. The floor was littered with letters and papers and there was blood on some of them, but there was nothing of any value in the building. The Indian brought in some light on the mystery, but it is not known that he had shown them to anyone who could read. Outside was a grave—a white man's grave and finished with a stick put up, either with writing on it or with a paper fastened on it; but this the Indian did not remove. The man had evidently made a good hunt, judging from the number of carcasses scattered round. Two men, strangers, went from town last fall with the intention of wintering near or at Souding Lake, and probably someone whom they met then may know whom they were. The Indian is certain the occupants were white men and that the grave is that of a white man.—Hartford Herald.

THE WAR ENDED.

Russian Influence Brought the Turks to Time.

There was a sudden unexpected change in the political situation of the east, the Constantinian as a result of which orders were telegraphed to Edhem Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief in Thessaly, to cease hostilities. It is expected that peace negotiations will now be undertaken in earnest and the Greeks will probably be spared further humiliation.

This result is ascribed to Russian influence, which operated to throw Germany and the Turkish war party to one side. Turkey, supported by Germany, was practically defeating Russia, France, Austria, Great Britain and Italy, insisting upon the annexation of Thessaly in addition to a huge war indemnity, and was determined to march on Athens. Then came the rumor that Bulgaria was preparing to mobilize her troops. This caused alarm at the palace, and the feeling of consternation was increased when the port received official advice from Sofia announcing that orders had been issued for the partial mobilization of the Turkish army. There was a hurried consultation of ministers. The war party was for further defiance, but in the end peace prevailed, and orders were telegraphed to Edhem Pasha. The note which the representatives of the powers drew up at a long meeting which they held, intended for presentation to the Turkish government as soon as the German ambassador received the necessary instructions from his government, in addition to repeating the request for an armistice and declaring that the powers would not permit Greece to be crushed, reminded the ports of its circular issued April 18th, expressly declaring any desire for conquest.

This note, although its contents are known to the Turkish government, had not been presented as the instructions of the German ambassador, did not permit him to join in the step upon which all the other ambassadors are fully agreed. Germany continued to oppose any action tending to press Turkey to cease hostilities and disapproved any measure directed from an anti-Turkish standpoint. The ambassadors proposed to hold another meeting to discuss the drawing up of a new note, the wording of which might conform more to the views of Germany. In official Turkish circles the proposed annexation of Thessaly is not regarded as a conquest, but of part of Greece. The Turks argue that this province was seized from the Greeks by force, and that as the Greeks have abandoned the rights conferred upon them Turkey resumes possession of the territory belonging to her.

UNCLE SAM'S DOMAINS.

Some Peculiar Incidents Respecting Our Neighbors Across the Border.

Oak Hill is a little hamlet of only fifty people in Wisconsin, but if the rest of the country increased as rapidly in population as Oak Hill has in the past year Canada would have to be annexed soon to provide room for the increase. Within the past single year, eleven pairs of twins have been born in the place, increasing the population by nearly one half.

For some years no liquor has been sold in Freetown, an aristocratic suburb of Boston, and to remedy the deficiency in the supply of drink the residents have taken to the drinking of Jamaica ginger, some brands of which contain a large percentage of that which intoxicates. The sale of this stuff by the grocers of the village has reached such proportions, and the drunkenness in the place increased in corresponding degree, that the police have compelled the grocers to stop selling it.

The largest paper machine in the world is now being set up in a paper mill at Rumford Falls, Me. It will produce paper 160 inches wide, which is fifteen inches wider than the best previous American make, and two inches over the world's record. It took many months to build the machine and thirty freight cars were required to transport the parts to their new destination. The total weight of the monster is 1,200,000 pounds. Its capacity is something immense, it being capable of turning out thirty-five tons of finished newspaper per day, the flat measurement of which would be 9,000,000 square feet.

Cheswick, a small town near Pittsburgh, Pa., has the largest incubator in the world at present, though it has never yet been tested to its full capacity. The incubator is the bonded warehouse of the Penick Distilling Co., 150 by 150, in which are stored 15,000 barrels of whiskey. The temperature of this building is seldom below 95 degrees, and some weeks ago, Manager Charles Bowers, a poultry enthusiast, conceived the idea of hatching eggs by placing them in the warehouse. He placed twenty eggs on slats and treated them incubator fashion. In the morning of the twenty-second day ago, he found several of the shells "chipped" and in six hours more he had a dozen strong looking chickens. He at once fixed up a corner of the warehouse as a hatchery and has now 200 eggs on the slats.

HONEST BOTTOMLEY.

He Pays a Debt When Under No Obligation to do so.

The commercial world has been startled by a remarkable occurrence in which Horatio Bottomley, for many years president of the Han and Union, of London, Eng., is the central figure. The business of the union was the publication of parliamentary reports of the proceedings of parliament corresponding to the congressional record in the United States. Several years ago the union combined with a number of large printing establishments, more stock and bonds were issued than the amalgamated concern could stand and as a final there was a crash, in which the stock and bond owners lost hundreds of thousands of dollars. The indignation of the unfortunate was focused in the main upon President Bottomley, although the legal information that followed developed the fact that he was more of a victim than a wrecker. In the few years that have elapsed since the crash he has managed to accumulate a large fortune in speculation and having traced out all of the stockholders of the old concern who were ruined or tantamount thereto by the failure, he has placed in the hands of trustees two million and a quarter dollars to be divided among the stockholders in proportion to their losses. The action is the more noteworthy from the fact that there existed neither legal nor moral obligation on Bottomley's part to meet any of the liabilities of the defunct concern.

The Yukon Country.

The Dominion government have evidently determined on a vigorous administrative policy in the Yukon country. Mr. Thomas Fawcett, Dominion topographical surveyor, has been appointed first regular gold commissioner in that country and with a staff of assistants, numbering seven, has started for his new field of labor. The party goes direct to Dawson City at the junction of the Klondike with the Yukon, and their time of duty extends over a period of two years.

The duties of a gold commissioner have until now been performed by Inspector Constantine, who is in charge of the Northern Mounted Police, but the latter of late become multifarious, and that the departments of necessity had to be separated. To carry out the work at present proposed it is believed the mining laws will have to be amended. Mr. Wm. Ogilvie, of the department of the interior, will start for London when Mr. Fawcett arrives, but his destination, but other eastern officials will be on hand shortly to engage in other departmental work. Among those will be a few surveyors whom the government proposes sending out to make a survey of the feasible waterways into the country.

EUROPE'S SHAME.

A Massacre of Greeks by the Horde of Edhem Pasha.

The London correspondent of the New York Sun says of the Greco-Turkish war: "The war is at an end, and the shame, not of Greece, but of Christian Europe is complete. The final act of the Moslem army was not battle, but a massacre. Two thousand Greeks at Demokos, according to the meagre accounts received, were slaughtered by Edhem's Fanatic troops after the powers had forbidden their opponents to engage in further hostilities, under a pledge that they would restrain the Turkish forces. Even the bloody record in Armenia does not match this crowning disgrace and defiance flung in the face of United Europe by the grinning creature of the Sultan on his gory throne at Constantinople, and with splendid insolence, having accomplished his entire purpose, the Sultan sent a message to the representatives of the powers, saying, that as an earnest of amiability and spirit of accommodation, he would abstain from further hostilities, pending negotiations for peace. The last act of mankind's folly has nothing to compare with this sublime triumph of evil over the forces of righteousness which federated Europe assumes itself to be. The Sultan openly declared that he would not check his army until Demokos, on the old frontier was in his possession. All Thessaly is now his beyond dispute, and he intends to retain it. Possession is much more than nine-tenths of the law in the diplomacy of Europe. Accordingly all expression of public opinion during the past two or three days have been unanimously against him. If more words would drive him out he would have to go, but few persons believe that the Greeks will be of any avail. Nothing but force remains, and Europe is so morally afraid of her own weapons that she will submit to almost any indignity rather than to use them. Such at least is the sentiment that controls the theory of Great Britain, which is the strongest of all the powers."

SUNDAY CARS FOR TORONTO.

The Vote Taken was the Largest Ever Poll—480 Majority.

After an exciting contest Sunday cars have carried in Toronto by a majority of 480 out of a total vote of 32,387, the largest vote ever polled. Four wards gave majorities for: First, 95; second, 39; third, 44; fourth, 27. Two gave majorities against: Fifth, 24; sixth, 188. An analysis of the vote shows that invariably the thickly populated portions of the city were in favor and those near the parks were adverse. The cars did not start at once, waiting for the formal declaration of the vote and the final passage of the by-law.
